ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An instruction form execution apparatus includes an instruction form input part that inputs an instruction form to indicate execution of a process, an execution part that executes the process indicated in the instruction form, and a deletion part that deletes the instruction form when the execution part completes the execution of the process indicated in the instruction form.